Decision: Major revisions required

The research study Islamic Family Inheritance Law in a Global Legal Perspective: Influence of Cyber-Crime aims to assess Islamic family inheritance laws in different Muslim countries and their relationship to cybercrime. The paper outlines the importance of inheritance laws and their connection to family matters, cultural and religious influences, and the increasing prevalence of cybercrime in inheritance disputes. Overall, the paper provides a clear introduction to the topic and the objectives of the research. It highlights the significance of the study in terms of contributing to existing literature, assisting law-making authorities, informing the general public about their rights, and benefiting future researchers. However, there are some areas that could be improved in order to strengthen the paper.

1. The paper briefly mentions previous research studies on inheritance laws but fails to provide a comprehensive review of the existing literature. It would be beneficial to include the current knowledge and gaps in the field to establish the context and importance of the study more effectively.
2. The paper does not provide any information about the research methodology employed in the study. It would be helpful to mention the research design, data collection methods, and analysis techniques to give readers an idea of how the research was conducted.
3. While the paper mentions the contribution of the study to existing literature, it does not explicitly state what new insights or findings the research aims to generate. Including the specific contribution of the study would make the paper more informative.
4. Theoretical implications needs to be discussed, highlighting the research's potential contribution to the existing literature on Islamic family inheritance laws and cybercrime. Practical implications should also be mentioned, emphasizing how the research can assist governments, law-making authorities, and the general public in addressing inheritance law issues and cybercrime.

5. The paper could benefit from a clearer structure and flow. It jumps between different topics, such as family law , inheritance laws, Islamic inheritance laws, and cybercrime, without a smooth transition. Consider organizing the paper in a logical order to enhance readability and coherence.

Reviewer -BDecision: Major revisions required

The manuscript discusses Islamic family inheritance laws from a global legal perspective and their relation to cybercrime. Here is a critical review of the paper:

1. The paper should briefly explain that the research study adopted a qualitative research method and specifically used the normative juridical research method for data collection.
2. The literature review section provides a general perspective on family inheritance laws and international variations . It briefly mentions different countries ' inheritance laws but lacks a comprehensive analysis or comparison . The references used in this section are recent , but it would be beneficial to include a broader range of sources to ensure a well-rounded review.
3. The excerpt briefly introduces the concept of inheritance in Islam and mentions different interpretations of inheritance from various scholars . However , it lacks a clear structure and coherence in presenting the information . The discussion on heirs in Islam is informative , but it could benefit from providing more context and explaining the rationale behind the categories of primary, secondary, and substitute heirs.
4. The recommendations provided are generally relevant and address key issues related to the simplification of laws, proper implementation , establishment of judicial institutes , penalization of cybercrime , technological advancements, and awareness campaigns. However, it would have been helpful to provide more specific and actionable recommendations with potential strategies for their implementation.
5. The conclusion must be provided , presenting a concise summary of the research study , including the research approach , main findings, and the importance of inheritance laws in Islam. It must effectively tie the analysis of Islamic inheritance laws with the emerging issue of cybercrime.

Response to Reviewers

Sr. No.	Reviewer's Comment	Response
	Reviewers like the revision done by authors. Here are some more suggestions.	Thankyou respected reviewer.
1	The application of Islamic family inheritance law in Muslim countries is briefly discussed, but it lacks depth and analysis. The section could benefit from discussing potential challenges or controversies surrounding the implementation of Islamic inheritance laws in these countries.	Thank you, dear review. Done as suggested. Please see pages 13-17
2	The discussion and results section follows a clear structure with sections for recommendations, conclusions, implications, research limitations, and a general overview. The use of headings helps to organize the information effectively.	Dear reviewer, Thank you for your kind comments.
3	The paper briefly mentions addressing research limitations, but it does not specify what these limitations are. It would be useful to provide the potential limitations of the study to give readers a realistic expectation of the research's scope.	Dear reviewer. Thank you for your kind suggestions. Done as suggested. Please see page 21
